Greenville Celebrates Opening of Greenville Technical College Ice on Main

GREENVILLE, S.C. – Nov. 23, 2011 – With a ceremonial skate around 3,200 square feet of real ice, the City of Greenville celebrated the opening of its anticipated holiday attraction: Greenville Technical College Ice on Main.

“We’ve been counting down the days since the end of our inaugural season in January – and the opening day of Greenville Technical College Ice on Main has finally arrived,” said David Sudduth, mayor pro tem. “We want ice skating downtown to be a holiday tradition for all Greenville families. If you didn’t join us last year, this is the perfect time to start that tradition.”

Greenville Technical College Ice on Main is located next to Greenville City Hall on the Village Green at Main@Broad and runs through Jan. 21. This year’s additions include clear dasher boards for better visibility and more holiday decorations. Visitors and local residents are invited to bring their skates, rent a pair on-site or simply grab a cup of hot chocolate from the concession stand and enjoy the holiday spirit.

“Greenville Technical College is excited about the opportunity to partner with Ice on Main this year,” said Dr. Keith Miller, president of Greenville Technical College. “We’re especially pleased that Greenville Technical College Ice on Main will not only benefit the community by serving as a wonderful holiday destination for families, but will also impact housing and hunger through Greenville Tech Gives Back.”

Greenville Technical College is the title sponsor, while The Courtyard by Marriott Greenville Downtown has partnered with the City of Greenville to provide the physical space. Greenville-Spartanburg International Airport, Greenville Hospital System and The Spinx Co. are holly sponsors for Greenville Technical College Ice on Main.

Admission to Greenville Technical College Ice on Main is $10 per adult and $8 per child (12 and under). Details can be found at www.IceOnMain.com.
